Heritage Management in Korea and Japan: The Politics of Antiquity and Identity (Korean studies of the Henry M. Jackson School of International Studies) Hyung Il Pai

This book provides the first sustained account to highlight how the forces of modernity, nationalism, colonialism, and globalization have contributed to the birth of museums, field disciplines, tourist industries, and heritage management policies. Its chapters trace the history of explorations, preservations, and reconstructions of archaeological monuments from an interregional East Asian comparative perspective in the past century.
