Limbo (Spanish Edition) Agustín Fernández Mallo

"Una de las más poderosas intuiciones que le había sobrevenido consistía en entender cómo es el mundo fijándose únicamente en los estados iniciales y finales de las cosas, sin preocuparse de cuanto ocurre en medio de ambos, camino o tránsito intermedio que de este modo queda constituido en una especie de limbo." Una mujer cuenta el secuestro al que fue sometida en México D.F. con una frialdad pasmosa y atendiendo a detalles inéditos. Una pareja atraviesa Estados Unidos en coche a la busca de un quimérico y remoto Sonido del Fin. Dos músicos se encierran en un château del norte de Francia para componer y grabar su obra definitiva. Un escritor español relata los inicios de su relación con una enigmática mujer que conoce en una librería mexicana. Agustín Fernández Mallo crea en esta novela una atmósfera ligeramente desenfocada, poética y turbadora que, como si de una red se tratara, va conectando a los personajes a medida que avanza la narración. No es misterio en el sentido clásico, no es suspense ni es terror, sino algo más inquietante: es la propia realidad la que se nos muestra como un objeto animado; son los personajes quienes van tras ella sin llegar a comprenderla del todo. En Limbo el tiempo se revela como una dimensión elástica y las fronteras entre la vida y la muerte se difuminan hasta desaparecer. Cada cual es él mismo y otros muchos, habitando distintos lugares, defendiendo varias vidas y sin intuir que, en definitiva, todo cuanto alguna vez ocurrió está condenado a repetirse.
